WHAT A FUNNY PAPER!

People buy Mark Twain's works to read humor. They once subscribed for the paper that Bill Nye wrote for the same reason. We have no Twain, nor Nye, while we have Geo. Ade and Geo. Fitch. But we have no use for either if the public had known it. The public once got educated to that sort of humor, could get all the thrills by reading The Montgomery Advertiser during a political campaign in Alabama.

That's the funniest paper we ever read, if you read it over a period of months, and years. Nothing funny about one copy of the paper, for its purpose is to be a very serious paper, dealing with momentous questions of the day, and pointing the way for the newsreiter, or more ignorant papers.

It got almost a column editorial about The Eagle's publishing extracts from one of Hobson's campaign letters, without marking the article advertising.

It starts off with, "The Dothan Eagle, a Hobson paper."

It arrives at that conclusion like it arrives at many other conclusions—from guess work, and from the fact that the paper has not already trailed along after the Advertiser, and the "Me Too" of the candidate.

The Eagle has never published an article news or otherwise, that showed it was either for or against Senator Johnston or Capt. Hobson. We have never seen the necessity of getting behind either of the candidates and pushing their cause, one against the other.

Over a year ago, Capt. Hobson went through Montgomery, and one of the bright writers quoted him as saying that he wasn't going to try to buy his way through the news papers, that he was going to put his fight before the people direct in meeting them and speaking to them. The writer quoted him in a way to leave the impression that Hobson was at war with all the newspapers. Hobson's friends there said he didn't use the expression as the paper put in his mouth, but like a whisperer of rumors of a woman's character, they got on. The Advertiser has never let an opportunity pass to use that against Hobson, and has never dared to quote just what Hobson said. It will never do it but keeps holding that up in front of the smaller dailies and weeklies to show them that they shouldn't support a man who doesn't advertise with them.

The people who read the Advertiser remember what it said against Johnston in the past. The people don't understand why Johnston should have been the wrong man then and the right one now. The people also remember that it was The Advertiser who told them that O'Neal was the only chance. The Advertiser put him up as being the Moses to lead the children out of the wilderness. And it wasn't three months before The Advertiser was sick and tired of him but didn't have the nerve to say so and hasn't had the nerve yet to admit that it was wrong. Probably it will never admit it.

And it may be—we don't know—that Hobson has seen the handwriting, as some other keen politicians of the state have seen it. We believe that a certain candidate for governor would never have announced unless he was certain The Advertiser was against him. The too might be termed a man again the newspapers, for he doesn't advertise through the papers and feared some legislation that was termed against their privileges. But as soon as this man was satisfied The Advertiser would throw a fit if he announced for governor he proceeded to announce Hobson might have looked at it in the same light. He might have figured that if The Ad-

Until a short time ago, scarcely one person in a thousand had ever tasted a really good soda cracker—as it came fresh and crisp from the oven.

Whether came out for him, the going would be hard.

But as we were told before Alabama has more papers doing their own political thinking, than it once had the papers support or oppose men for their own reasons and not because some of the bigger papers have arisen and pointed with pride to the man to save the country. We've been saying so much till we are tired of it.

TAX COMMISSION

Mr. Tom Johnson who captured Walter Dales as Tax Commissioner of this county, and one of the state board Mr. Martin were here a week or so ago lingering around in the county tax affairs, wanting higher assessments of the people's property. It is said that the challenge went out by the commission court was for the purpose of keeping the state crowd out of here. It is that as it may two of the commissioners voted against it (it being night), and two voted to effect them. Well the citizens are out and we want to know every man who has been cited, to appear here on the 11th of August and protest any such proceedings. Under the new order of things are now collected in state and county taxes out of the people of Henry county fifty two thousand dollars three years ago we paid between seventeen and eight thousand dollars, now we pay fifty two thousand and still they are not satisfied and want further raises of taxes to be assessed out of the people to be squandered and stolen. It is thus the people want, hearing their rights and demanding that this high handed piece of wickedness should stop. If there were no commissions and fear to be paid there would be no citizens the incentive is the commission 10 per cent of all the taxes go to the county tax commissioner. The people are wrought up over this matter and ought to be and we hope every man cited will appear here and enter an emphatic protest. We have been raised enough already. The county is raising all the money she needs from past assessment and we should not be forced to pay more in order to help out the state and the tax stealers. The people should meet here and protest any more tax raises, and appeal the matter to the courts and see where this tax commission authority begins.

And ends. Let every man raised up to the courts for protection there are people in the county who are not satisfied, but who have to take funds to pay their taxes. It is said all you people who have been cited and let your objections be known.—Abbeville News

MOST BEAUTIFUL THING

That's some dress you've got on little girl! It was in that delicate, clinging, clingy stuff is the prettiest cloth on the store counters that sells Persian work of many colors so gracefully swathed about the center section of your anatomy would knock the spots off Joseph's coat. You are comely and tall and according to the most extreme model in the advance August fashion books.

But your neck is too low and your sleeves are too short and your skirt is far and away tighter than skirts over were meant to be. And that graceful slit exposing, your dainty left ankle shows a stocking above your pump that is almost transparent enough to read through. And you haven't any more petticoat than a rabbit—you know you haven't.

Oh you're some swell you are. Have you noticed how the loafers around the grove rubber after you as you slip daintily by on your way to the uplift lecture. And have you been thinking little fondish one that they're rubbering out of pure admiration? Ask your brother about it. It has got its sting in it. Tell you some things that will be hard on your vanity and good for your soul. And if you've got any sense you'll take his word for it. You'll say that dress away and buy something that will show enough around the bottom to allow room for two petticoats and one pair of legs.

For there never was a dress so shaped little girl that is half so beautiful as a young girl modesty.—Impatia Gazette

DIDN'T I TELL YOU

It probably is the fact that the press of Alabama is becoming more and more dependent. If that but it we can answer no other reason to the news papers for being so backward about getting in behind their candidate.

It was to have been expected of course that the big city dailies would be in the lead. It is the friends of the candidates that is gave them a chance to point the way for the smaller parties. The way has been pointed and it is a day for a dozen small parties of it state who have been tearing shirts for any of the candidates.

It is going to be a hot one. The voters don't trouble so it is a day for a dozen small parties of it state who have been tearing shirts for any of the candidates.

Pay Too Little

A farmer in great need of extra hands at his, then finally called St. Warren who was accounted the town fool. If he would help him out says the Montgomery Journal.

What'll we pay me, asked St. Warren.

I'll pay what you're worth, answered the farmer.

St. Warren had a minute then answered decisively. I'll be damned if I will for that!
